

Appendix B

Public Involvement

This appendix describes the public involvement program for the Columbia River Crossing (CRC) project. While public involvement on this project began much earlier, the NEPA public involvement program was formally initiated with publication of a Notice of Intent to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) in the Federal Register on September 27, 2005, and will continue through the public comment period for this Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) and selection of the Locally Preferred Alternative (LPA) in 2008. Over the course of the project, this program is used to educate and involve interested parties and stakeholders in order for them to become active participants in shaping the CRC project.

To date, through the public involvement program, CRC staff participated in nearly 350 public events, giving over 10,000 people a face-to-face opportunity to learn about the project and provide meaningful input. A list of all public involvement events held to date is included at the end of this appendix. The program also enabled significant involvement for those who are unable to attend public events. Extensive outreach has been conducted through dissemination of written information in hard copy and electronic form, including dissemination of comment forms, the creation of an interactive project web site, and outreach to local and regional media. The project's database, used to encourage participation in public events and involve the broader community, has grown to nearly 3,000 e-mail addresses and over 10,000 postal mailing addresses.

Through implementation of the public involvement program, over 3,000 public comments have been received so far on a range of topics, including the purpose of and need for the project as well as comments on specific transit, river crossing and highway components, and alternatives. The comments have significantly contributed to the development of the CRC project, including the creation of the project's purpose and need statement, the addition of new transit and river crossing ideas, and the development of additional full alternatives to be studied in the DEIS process, and will contribute to the development of a recommended LPA.

Education and involvement activities will continue to take place during the formal public comment period for the DEIS, and will include at least one public event in Washington and one in Oregon prior to the selection of the LPA by project sponsors. These additional activities will encourage the community to learn about, and comment on, the DEIS. Education and involvement activities will take place after the DEIS formal comment periods are closed, and will be tailored to meet the needs of the public.

This appendix includes the program's goals for public involvement, a description of the public stakeholders targeted for involvement, and the outreach tools being used to communicate with these stakeholders.

Goals for Public Involvement

The goals for public involvement and measures for assessing progress toward these goals are as follows:

- Goal: Provide opportunities for meaningful public engagement in project development.
 - Objective: Keep the interested and affected people, groups, and agencies informed of project developments on an ongoing basis through presentations, attendance at community-based events, open houses, print and electronic communications, and the media.
 - Objective: Encourage public feedback through public outreach activities and tools.
 - Objective: Compile and summarize public feedback on an ongoing basis. Distribute public feedback to project staff on an as-needed basis.
 - Objective: Evaluate and consider all public comments.
- Goal: Fully comply with Executive Orders 12898 and 12948 on Environmental Justice.
 - Objective: Hold regular Community and Environmental Justice Group (CEJG) meetings that provide opportunity for feedback on key project decisions.
 - Objective: Specifically target minority, low-income, and limited English-speaking populations within the project area for stakeholder outreach and feedback.
 - Objective: Translate project documents into Spanish, Russian, and Vietnamese and provide interpreter services when needed.

Stakeholders

The first major public involvement task was to identify who would be interested in, affected by, utilize, or otherwise have a stake in the CRC project; in other words, identifying the public stakeholders. The following people and organizations have been identified as public stakeholders and are the primary focus of outreach:

- The people of Clark County and Portland
- People who live adjacent to I-5
- People who drive on I-5
- The business and freight community
- Transit users
- Elected officials
- Project sponsors and staff
- Media
- People identified in the 2005 demographic analysis for the bridge influence area: low-income residents, minorities, and people speaking limited English (specifically those speaking Spanish, Russian, and Vietnamese)
- Neighborhood associations

Public Involvement Approach

The main focus of CRC participation in public events is at the grass-roots community level. The guiding philosophy is to take information and solicit feedback where people are already gathered, rather than expecting them to seek out project information and look for ways to provide input. To that end, CRC staff continue to reach out to neighborhood associations on both sides of the river and seek to connect with other community groups, service clubs, business organizations, and large employers.

In Vancouver, targeted outreach is focused on the Esther Short, Arnada, Hudson's Bay, Shumway, Lincoln, Central Park, and Rosemere/Rose Village neighborhoods. In Portland, targeted outreach is primarily focused on the Hayden Island, Bridgeton, Kenton, and East Columbia neighborhoods, with close coordination through the North Portland Neighborhood Coalition office. These neighborhoods receive frequent visits and face-to-face outreach about issues the neighborhoods may face as a result of being immediately adjacent to I-5 in the Bridge Influence Area (BIA), providing the CRC project team with localized community input. Monthly e-mail updates are sent to these groups through the City of Vancouver Neighborhoods office, the North Portland Neighborhood Coalition office, and the Neighborhood Association Coalition of Clark County. The project team also works with other associations to provide information and project updates, but not with the same frequency.

CRC staff have also reached out to individual businesses and business associations. Project staff have met with groups such as the Uptown Village Association and Vancouver's Downtown Association. In addition, staff are engaged in an ongoing door-to-door outreach campaign to businesses near the proposed high-capacity transit alignments in Vancouver. These efforts have helped identify business-specific concerns and preferences.

The CRC project is complying with NEPA requirements for public involvement, including fully complying with Executive Orders 12898 and 12948, which require each federal agency to make achieving environmental justice part of its mission "by identifying and addressing, as appropriate, disproportionately high and adverse human health or environmental effects of its programs, policies, and activities on minority populations and low-income populations." The project team has identified minority, low-income, and limited English-speaking populations within the project area for stakeholder engagement and through the formation of the CEJG.

Public Involvement Tools

Listed below is a summary of the public involvement tools and methods being utilized by the CRC project.

Broadcast/Podcast Meetings and Interviews

In an effort to reach new populations and provide a new and convenient way for the public to stay updated about the project, the project team created and posted podcasts onto the project web site.

Communications Tracking

The public can provide the project team with comments through a variety of media, including e-mail, the project web site, voicemail, and public meetings. Comments and questions received through all media are stored in a comment tracking database and are shared individually, or as summarized reports, with project team members and the CRC Task Force (see discussion of the CRC Task Force under Advisory and Working Groups below), as appropriate. When appropriate, the project team provides timely responses to public questions or comments.

Communications Working Group

The communications team periodically convenes communications staff from the partner agencies to update them on project progress, introduce and review communications strategies and messages, and track the distribution of project materials. Meetings are typically held around major project milestones, or as needed.

Fairs, Festivals, and Community Events

The project team focuses on reaching people where they are in order to connect with a broader range of people. These efforts include participation in major community events such as Fort Vancouver Days and the Rose Festival, concerts and events on the Portland waterfront, farmers' markets, and events targeted to reach people who speak Russian, Vietnamese, and Spanish languages. These outreach opportunities provide the general public with an informal opportunity to engage in dialogue with the project team, view project information, and learn about upcoming project milestones and public involvement opportunities. This type of outreach provides the public with increased knowledge of the project, broad-based understanding of project goals and schedules, and a convenient means of providing feedback directly to project staff. Project team participation at community events typically involves the staffing of informational tables.

Mailing List

A project mailing list for electronic and postal mail is maintained in a database to enable printing of mailing labels for newsletters, meeting reminders, web site update notices, and electronic mailings.

Media Support

A media plan has been developed to reach a broad audience with accurate and timely information, to increase awareness of the project by the general public, and to encourage attendance at public events. It includes strategies for gaining media coverage at project milestones as well as methods to keep the project visible between milestones. The following activities are employed to ensure that the media are appropriately involved throughout the project:

- Reporter Briefings and Materials: Members of the media receive project briefings at key milestones. At this time, they also receive press kits which include project descriptions, graphics, timelines, and key decision dates. The press kits serve as a tool for transmittal of new project information and details.

- Editorial Board Briefings: Editorial board meetings are scheduled with a variety of publications within Clark and Multnomah Counties in an effort to inform the editorial boards and their reporters of the project.
- Opinion/Editorial Articles: Project staff solicit opinion/editorial articles from regional transportation leaders such as governors, legislators, local elected officials, the Secretary (Washington) and Director (Oregon) of Transportation, members of the State Transportation Commissions, business leaders, and others interested in transportation issues.
- Minority and Small Press: Minority and neighborhood-based media are included in the distribution of press materials. The project team provides translated versions of press releases, as needed.
- Media Distribution List: The project updated pre-existing media lists and distribution system(s) to ensure that materials are distributed to all relevant and interested news outlets. Neighborhood publications are included on this list, and coordination is planned to ensure that smaller publications receive information in a manner that recognizes their less frequent publication dates.
- Community Calendars: Dates, times, and locations of community open houses and other public events are submitted to a wide variety of publications (both inside and outside the project corridor) via “Community Calendar” sections in order to reach a broad regional audience.
- Media Tracking: All print media stories are collected for reference and archiving and are distributed via e-mail to the project team on a weekly basis.
- E-mail Messages: The project communications team keeps the media informed with monthly e-mails about the project.

Monthly E-mail Updates

Monthly e-mails are used to provide regular updates on the project status to all those on the project mailing list.

Outreach to Limited-English, Low-Income, and Minority Populations

An important component of the public involvement strategy for this project is two-way communication with limited-English, low-income, and minority populations. To this end, the public involvement team coordinates with local communities, the established CEJG, and community-based organizations (CBOs) to develop appropriate strategies for outreach to these communities.

Selected project documents are translated into Spanish, Russian, and Vietnamese, are posted on the project web site, and are distributed in hard copy form at strategic locations in the community. Spanish, Russian, Vietnamese, and sign language interpreters are made available at project open houses, upon request.

Printed and Display Materials

Hard copy materials provide information about the project to a broad range of audiences. One of the main components of the communications effort includes having a range of written materials that are easily identifiable as CRC materials and that can be accessed either in print form or electronically. Individuals requiring reasonable accommodations can request written material in alternative formats or sign language interpreters by contacting the project team.

The following are all elements of the written materials that have been produced for the project:

- Newsletters: Project newsletters are produced to describe project plans and timelines, opportunities for public input, options and alternatives under consideration, and project progress. They also serve as part of the notification system for public meetings and other milestones. Newsletters are also posted on the project web site.
- Project Folio: A general background document was created that describes project need, process, timelines, and benefits; and is used for briefings and meetings and is updated as needed.
- Fact Sheets: Fact sheets have been developed that can be used individually or in packets for specialized audiences, and focus on topics such as safety, transit, funding, and other topics of interest during project development.
- Display Boards: Display boards are created for open houses, booths at fairs and festivals, and miscellaneous presentations.
- Postcards: Postcards are mailed to all addresses in the CRC project database approximately three weeks before public meetings. These postcards notify neighbors and other interested parties of upcoming opportunities to review the project team's work and provide input.
- Presentation Materials: Presentation materials are prepared to support open houses, briefings with neighborhoods, business groups, and community organizations, as well as meetings with media and elected officials. Materials are tailored to each group and may consist of a combination of PowerPoint slides, graphic images, display boards, and presentation handouts.

Public Open Houses and Design Workshops

Public open houses and design workshops are held for the general public and special interest groups in coordination with key project milestones. Individuals requiring reasonable accommodations can request written material in alternative formats or sign language interpreters by contacting the project team. For the convenience of the public, these events are held in both Vancouver and Portland.

- In the fall of 2005, three public open houses were held to provide staff with public input to help define the primary problems in the project area. This information was relevant to the development of the purpose and need statement for the project.
- In the spring of 2006, two open houses were held to discuss and receive public feedback on 23 initial river crossing ideas and 14 initial public transportation ideas.

- In the fall of 2006, four open houses were held to discuss and receive public feedback on the project's draft staff recommendation for alternatives to move forward for further evaluation into the DEIS.
- In the fall of 2007, two open houses were held to share detailed information with neighborhood and business groups about potential high-capacity transit alignments and streetscape design tradeoffs, and to receive feedback.

Traveling Displays

Traveling displays provide information on project context and highlight the range of feasible alternatives being considered; these display locations rotate as needed.

Web Site

A CRC project web site has been created and is regularly updated. The web site provides project information, schedules, and public events, and serves as a venue for the public to provide the project team with feedback. At key project milestones, web-based surveys are also available through this web site.

Comments

Public and agency comments gathered over the course of the project are shared with project staff as relevant to their work, depending on the phase of the project and the issue the comment is related to. By attending outreach events, project staff (including technical staff) also receive comments directly from members of the public. Project comment summaries are also created as a tool for sharing information with the CRC Task Force and lead staff.

Advisory and Working Groups

The CRC Task Force was created to advise the Washington State Department of Transportation and Oregon Department of Transportation on general project-related issues and concerns. In addition, several advisory and working groups were formed to address specific project issues as they arise. These advisory and working groups include specialists from agency and consultant staff as well as from other organizations. These working groups address public involvement, environmental justice, and freight, bicycle, pedestrian, and urban design issues.

CRC Task Force

The 39-member CRC Task Force is composed of leaders from a broad cross section of Washington and Oregon communities. Public agencies, businesses, civic organizations, neighborhoods and freight, commuter, and environmental groups are represented on the CRC Task Force. This group meets regularly to advise the CRC project team and provide guidance and recommendations at key decision points.
